The England Hockey Code of Ethics and Behaviour

I. Introduction

England Hockey's Code of Ethics and Behaviour is the ethical philosophy under which the sport operates. It describes the behaviour expected of all within the hockey family in England.

England Hockey is responsible for setting standards and values to apply throughout the sport at every level.

England Hockey's Code of Ethics and Behaviour encapsulates all the sporting, moral and ethical principles that hockey represents. The Code is intended for all participants and disciplines within the sport. Everyone involved in the sport should promote equality of access and opportunity, fairness and respect. All those involved within hockey have a responsibility to act according to the highest standards of integrity and to ensure that the reputation of the sport is, and remains, high.

The purpose of the Code of Ethics and Behaviour is to:

1. Establish the Code of Behaviour (expected minimum standards of behaviour and conduct) for all people involved within the sport, and
2. Provide information on reporting and disciplinary procedures.

We believe its content will contribute to:

Hockey's vision, which is A Dynamic Vibrant Successful Sport for All

England Hockey's mission, which is To Provide Effective Leadership for All to Fulfil their Potential

Terminology

For the purpose of clarification some specific terms are explained here:

- The hockey family incorporates everyone involved with the sport of hockey in England, and includes all individuals, affiliated bodies, clubs, associations, and other organisations involved in any capacity in the game of hockey, and whether or not members of England Hockey. For the avoidance of doubt, this includes all players and anyone working within hockey (in a paid or voluntary capacity, and whether as an employee or on a self-employed or other work basis) including all coaches, umpires, referees and other officials.
- Conflicts and declarations of interest – If you have several interests, you are advised to declare such interests when accepting appointments and then to conduct yourself professionally, never allowing such interests to cause a conflict in the role in hand.
- Young People – There are many references to young people within this document and we define young people as persons under the age of 18. It is important to recognise that while some of the codes give guidance for activity that is exclusively for young people, most senior hockey teams also include young people.
- Suitably Insured – England Hockey provides guidance on suitable insurance for different individuals and groups as referenced in this document. This information is available on the England Hockey website – www.EnglandHockey.co.uk
- Expected minimum standards of behaviour and conduct – the examples given under the main headings are not exhaustive but are examples of behaviour that is or is not acceptable.

2. How to use the Code of Ethics and Behaviour

The Code of Ethics and Behaviour has a generic element which relates to all within the sport. If you have a voluntary, paid or participant role which is not specifically referred to or you do not have a specific role within hockey, then the Generic Code of Behaviour (on page 4) applies to you.

Some specific roles have added guidance.

- Your Role: to find the specific Code of Behaviour that relates to your role please see the contents page.
- Multiple Roles: if you have multiple roles you should use the respective Codes of Behaviour for each role.

3. Generic Code of Behaviour

Terms of reference

The content of this Code of Behaviour applies to all involved with the sport of hockey in England.

In order to protect the reputation of hockey in England, the Code also applies to all those associated with England Hockey who are involved in hockey whilst outside England.
